Town Hall: Decorated For Anniversary

Enthusiasm High For Anniversary

Enthusiasm is mounting daily for the great 325th anniversary celebration of Andover which will get underway on Friday, May 28 and extend through Monday, May 31.

Business, establishments and municipal offices downtown are gaily decorated with flags and bunting and the entire town is taking on a festive atmosphere.

Sidney P. White, chairman of the anniversary committee, reports that tickets for the Friday night banquet at Phillips Academy gymnasium are still available although many have already been sold.

The dinner, at 6:30 p.m., will mark the official opening of the celebration. Ticket reservations are in charge of Robert Henderson. The tickets may be obtained from him or from other committee members as well as at the town clerk's and town manager's offices.

Deadline for making reservations will be Monday night, May 24, as the caterer must be notified the following Tuesday of the number who will sit down to dinner.

Another big feature of the observance will be the Memorial Day parade.

Hundreds will be in the line of march; there will be more than a score of floats, and to top it all off the 18th Army Band from Fort Devens will be on hand to provide music as only an army band can produce. In addition, there will be many more musical units in the parade.

The parade will form in the area in the rear of the town hall at 9 a.m. The start will be promptly at 9:30 a.m.

The marchers will go from Park to Florence Street, left on Elm Street to Elm Square, south on

325th Anniversary Edition May 27

Andover's 325th anniversary observance from May 28 to May 31 will be one of the biggest happenings of the last quarter century.

In keeping with the historic event, the TOWNSMAN next week will publish the complete program and special features in connection with the four-day celebration.

Decisions Are The Big Things In Life

By Helen M. Eccles

Training in responsible decision making, development of self-awareness, the development of self-discipline in the elementary grades through education, choices and decisions, -- these are part of the philosophical baggage that the school superintendent, Dr. Kenneth Seifert, brought with him to Andover two years ago.

These terms and ideas have been cropping up recently from other sources, to wit:

Citizens at last fall's educational forum reached consensus that the best high school discipline was reached through the development of self-discipline in the lower grades, so that discipline will come from within as the child grows older.

Elementary guidance counselor Malcolm Hart last year developed an elementary self-awareness curriculum now being piloted in the system, to develop the

New Children's Librarian Joins Memorial Hall Staff

The new, young lady with the bright red hair in the Children's Room at Memorial Hall Library is Miss Mary Jane Lynch. Miss Lynch assumed her duties as Children's Librarian on Monday, May 17, thereupon filling the vacancy of a year and a half due to the retirement of Miss Elizabeth Russell.

A 1970 graduate of The College of New Rochelle, Miss Lynch will receive her M.S. Degree in Library Science from Simmons College School of Library Science in the fall.

The Andover position is her first full-time job, but Miss Lynch is no stranger to libraries. She worked in school libraries from the seventh grade to the twelfth, and while enrolled in college she had

Memorial Hall Library

Apple Dolls

The lobsterman, the chicken farmer, and the hippie are just a small part of the exhibit of dried apple dolls now at the library. If you have not seen this humorous display you have until the end of the month to view it. The three Andover ladies who have spent much spare time drying the faces and making the outfits for the dolls are Miss Emily Livingston, Mrs. Vernie B. Angus and Mrs. Joyce Tucker.

Arts and Crafts

Oils and water-colors, huge stitchery murals, linoleum block and silk-screen presses, wheel-turned clay and green-ware vases -- all of this and more was happening last Thursday at the library. More than 50 people came in to watch the action. This Thursday, May 20, there will be more demonstrations going on at the same place. From 7:30 until 9 in the evening you may watch Leo Constantineau of North Andover as he carves and sculpts in his favorite medium.

You may also find out how a rya rug is made from Mrs. Inga Lundberg of Andover. Do you know about the latest interest in macrame? Mrs. Carol Presberg is going to demonstrate her skill in that art. Mrs. Frances McCormick will be handbuilding pottery, and Barbara Boes will have her loom to show how easy it is to do your own weaving at home. These ladies are all from Andover. With Mr. Constantineau they continue to keep up the quality and excitement of the Art Festival at the library.

325th Anniversary

Memorial Hall Library is planning to present exhibits, displays, special artifacts and first editions in honor of the celebration of Andover's 325th anniversary. There will be a sequence of old maps of the town, and a collection of water-color views of old houses. Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grigoli

The man who popularized progressive Jazz was Stan Kenton. He took his experimental music to the concert hall and secured a serious hearing for it. Much of his more advanced music was potentially imitative of the twelve-tone school and his musicians were largely shown off in dazzling showpieces for their technique. Many outstanding Jazzmen played with his various bands and he was able to successfully bring modern Jazz to people's attention.

His reputation as a leader, pianist and arranger is nationally known.

However when Pete Rugolo joined his band as an arranger, Kenton did less and less writing. The value of Kenton's music varied greatly with the arranger and Jazz personnel he used.

His band has served as a workshop for many writers and soloists who have achieved their first major exposure through him. His contribution to Jazz has been through his ability to organize and expose great talent.

Do Your Own Thing . . . !

The kids have been doing it for ages. How about the rest of us?

Actually, we've been way ahead of them for years. Some of us even own our own store. I mean, why not? We spend a lot of money there - why not have a piece of the action?

WOULD YOU BELIEVE that for $5 (one share) you can own your own store? We take pretty good care of ourselves, too. After all, it's all in the family. We pay 6% interest (not bad these days) per share, and at the end of the year we divide up profits among ourselves as a rebate on the basis of the amounts each one of us spent in our store.

This end-of-the-year bonus can be the berries - sometimes as high as 4.3%. This last year, though, everybody was pulling in their belts - no caviar, all beans and macaroni. Low margin, low profits, low rebates - but we'll bounce back up there when the economy does!

Join us, won't you? Walk right into the CO-OP (our store) and buy a piece of the action. Anyone can shop CO-OP - but for $5 you can OWN it!

Ten Abbot students and their teacher spend every Monday and Tuesday afternoon in a Lawrence elementary school working with a group of first, second and third graders who belong to the "Abbot Club."

The Abbot Club is tutoring, and what goes on in the Lawlor School auditorium and basement for an hour or so, twice a week, is informal education that goes both ways.

The Lawlor School children, whose teachers selected them as needing extra attention, receive informal tutoring from girls interested in teaching careers who prepare for, and keep a journal of, each meeting with their students.

Each Abbot girl has committed herself to an entire academic year of working with one or two of these children, as part of an Abbot double course in English and Urban Education, taught this year by Mrs. George Edmonds. Mrs. Edmonds expresses her conviction that the tutoring has increased each girl's understanding of what teaching really is, "and is teaching her lots more about herself - her limits, her strengths and frustrations. In informal education, everyone learns."

The Abbot girls prepare most of the teaching materials themselves, though this spring an anonymous grant has brought certain marketed learning materials and games, such as cuissonniere rods and math and word games into play. The tutors' broad preparation is through the reading and discussion in the English class and Urban Ed seminar they share with their teacher. But they also have had the practical benefit of a workshop under Mrs. Mary Kay Hervol, of the Andover school system, observation of methods at Bancroft School, and have observed classes under "their child's" teacher at the Lawlor School.

Lawlor School principal Miss Genevieve Cahill and her teachers find the program valuable to the children, and want it to continue. Now in its third year, the Abbot Club program was initiated by Mrs. Susan Lloyd, an Abbot history teacher now away on a year's leave.

Miss Cahill told the TOWNSMAN that the greatest need of the children is not purely academic, but in the attitude and self-confidence of children who may have tasted early defeat in the learning situation, for reasons beyond their own control. Behind the difficulty in mastering reading is often an emotional adjustment problem, perhaps connected with poverty, perhaps with a foreign language situation at home. She cited the tremendous help the program had been to third grade twins who had come from Lebanon to Lawrence. Often, Miss Cahill feels, the problem is basically an unmet need for personal attention - for someone with the time and willingness to listen. The Lawlor teacher, with a classroom of 30 to serve, recommends the Abbot Club when she sees this.

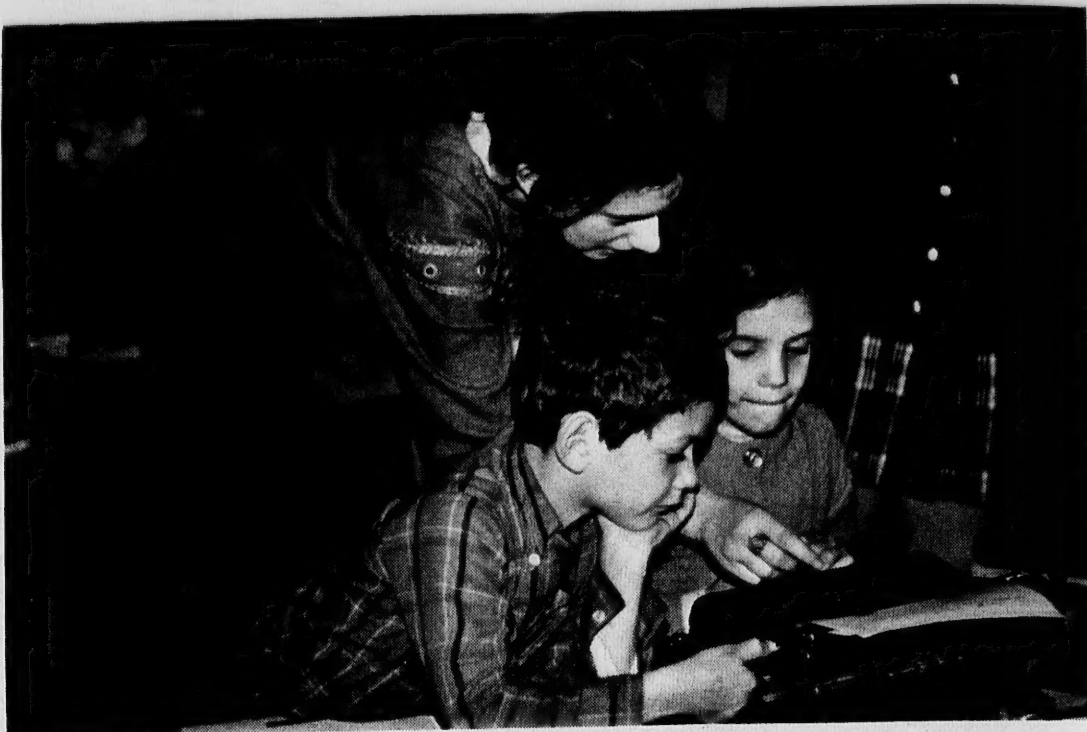

The Abbot girls fill this need sympathetically in informal learning situations that also help the child with word recognition or another learning area suggested by the teacher.

Mrs. Edmonds and Miss Cahill agree that the relationship between tutor and child is more important than the educational materials, in improving the child's confidence, attitude and basic learning situation.

A Monday in the Lawlor auditorium, or a Tuesday afternoon in the basement, where the Abbot Club operates with the benevolent cooperation of custodian Albert Cutterworth, reveals a little of what this informal education consists of.

TYPE OF LEARNING is the informal approach of Abbot students in the Urban Education program who use games, typewriters, books to interest Lawlor School students who can benefit from personal educational approach.

Abbot Students Tutor Children

Two Lawlor students are concentrating with real excitement on the typewriter an Abbot girl brought along, and practicing making words with delight. There's a fair amount of noise - mostly questions and exclamations, but three feet away a boy is in a deep study over cuissonniere rods, as his tutor asks: "Now if we call this long blue piece of wood 'ten' and the little red one 'two', what would you call the yellow piece of wood you've put with the red one to make it just as long as the blue one?"

Another tutor is using the space under the stairs to look at a book with two little girls. There is sound and movement going on in the room, talking and listening and doing, and some learning that seems to go down well. This is one kind of informal education.

On Tuesday afternoons, the Abbot Club consists of work with clay, paint and other creative activities, but this spring the projects have been field trips - to a farm, macaroni factory, a bakery, to enlarge the children's experience to wider environments.

Two of the Abbot tutors told the TOWNSMAN that some of the children saw a cow for the first time on the farm trip. They asked - how can a reading book about farm animals have significance for a child who has never seen a live cow?

The tutors are Joan Blackster, Sally Bloodgood, Lucy Gorham, Sally Gilbert, Cheryl Lamb, Sue Lilienthal, Deborah Roth, Alice Sweeney, Liza Webster and Tootie Wasilewski.

The philosophical underpinnings of the double course are the reading and discussion in the English and Urban Ed courses. Most of books assigned in English deal with helplessness, and how man has dealt with it. Socrates, Sophocles, Shakespeare (in "Hamlet"), Orwell ("Brave New World"), Faulkner ("Intruder in the Dust") and Twain, in "Huck Finn." The reading in the Urban Ed Seminar studies are the more contemporary and specifically education-oriented works by authors such as Bruner, Piaget, and John Holt, but also Cole's "Immigrant City", a history of Lawrence.

The double course offered by Abbot Academy to the students making this commitment interweaves an intellectual background against which the Abbot girls tutoring service to the Lawlor School is set. The double benefit is reaped by Lawlor students and their Abbot tutors.

Braves 11, Dodgers 5 - For the winning Braves, Scott Anderson, Mark Grigoli and Dan Edelstein were the big hitters, while Scott Anderson and Kevin Kenney shared defensive honors. Andy Powell and Mark Grigoli divided the pitching duties, each doing a fine job. For the losers, Dave Parker and Mark Gould sparked both at the plate and on the field.

Giants 6, Astros 5 - The Giants who continued their winning ways were paced at the plate by a home run from the bat of Dennis Monroe, who has pitched two no hitters for the Giants this season. Tim Fogarty also contributed some timely hits for the winners. An excellent pitching performance was delivered by Glenn Ippolito.

The Astros nearly upset the league leaders behind the superb pitching of Phil Doherty ably assisted by his battery mate, Jeff Paparella. Henry Doherty led the hitting attack of the Astros with a single and a triple.

Pirates 16, Cardinals 5 - The Pirates played fine defensive and offensive ball and were sparked by the excellent pitching of Bill Douthett who went the route for the winners, while striking out ten.

The Cardinals gave a creditable performance and more is expected of them as the season progresses. Redlegs 15, Phillies 12 - Dick Daigle led the offensive attack of the Redlegs with a homer while Bob Conroy pitched effectively in the clutches.

For the Phillies, Greg Weissman tripled with the bases loaded while James Arnold gave his usual good performance at the plate and on the field.

Pirates 13, Astros 6 - The Pirates who remain in strong contention for the championship were sparked by sterling performances from Richard O'Hara and Fred Tobey. Tobey, who, this season, has belted out 12 hits during 14 times at bat including 4 homers is one of the league's leading hitters.

AMERICAN MINOR LEAGUE

A full schedule of three games for each team was played last week, and at the half-way point of the season, the Patriots are the leaders, with a 2-game lead over the second place teams. The Patriots were hard-pressed twice, however, winning a tight one and then losing their first ball game. Doug Nicoll of the Red Sox pitched very well, but lost 6-5 to the league leaders and the hustling Orioles spotted the Patriots 6 runs in the first inning and then came back for a 12-10 win over the leaders. The Orioles also defeated the Tigers 11-7 with Ken

MacKenzie pitching well in both ball games.

The Yankees advanced with 2 victories out of 3, including a close 8-7 win over the strong Tigers. The Angels won 2 games combining fielding, pitching and hitting. Tom Servello helped win 1 of those with his third over-the-fence home run of the season.

The Senators have shaken off their early defeats and look like a tight ball team, far better than their won-loss record indicates. George Donovan added punch to their batting by hitting 2 triples and a home run in an 11-11 tie with the Angels. The Senators also clouted the White Sox 17-3.

Private Pools Needed By Y

The Andover YMCA, for the fourth straight year, plans to conduct swimming programs in private backyard swimming pools of Andover this summer. Flyers were recently mailed out to all private pool owners of record carrying information concerning the proposed program, with a return form for those desiring to investigate further. Any pool owners who did not receive the flyer may obtain one at the YMCA or request one by telephone.

Basically the YMCA requests the loan of a private pool for one morning or one afternoon a week during the summer, for the conducting of four classes under certified leadership. The pool owner may select the participants or may elect an open enrollment. All commitments for pools should be made within the week. Class enrollment will begin June 14.

The program has proved very popular with number of pools and number enrolled for instruction increasing each year. Last summer, in its third season, 20 pools were involved in the program which served 530 pupils in 68 different class groups, total attendance reaching 4,249. Eleven certified instructors and eight certified Water Safety Instructor Aides were responsible for the teaching of the pupils.

Exhibit At Addison Gallery

A retrospective exhibition of paintings, assemblages, drawings and monotypes by Beverly Hallam is presently on view at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, through June 13, 1971. The exhibition is built around the development of Miss Hallam's unique monotypes. It documents closely the relationship of these monotypes to paintings, assemblages and drawings of earlier periods. The exhibition is comprised of 131 works dating from 1956 to the present and is thus a comprehensive presentation of all phases of the work of this important New England artist.

Miss Hallam has become well known for her intelligent experimentation with a wide variety of materials. In the 1950's she was one of the first American artists to use polyvinyl-acetate emulsion paint, later known as acrylic. In 1963 she evolved a printing process using gelatin rolls and stencils to produce the intensely colored and luminous monotypes for which she is now well known. She has lectured throughout New England on the use of plastics in painting and on the unique procedure she has developed for making her monotypes. In 1960, she was the first recipient of the Blanche E. Coleman Foundation Award.

Born in Lynn, Miss Hallam attended Massachusetts College of Art, Cranbrook Academy of Art, and received an MFA at Syracuse University in 1953. She has taught at Lasell Junior College in Auburn, and throughout the 50's and 60's was an Associate Professor at the Massachusetts College of Art. In 1962 she left teaching to devote herself entirely to her own work.

A comprehensive catalogue of the exhibition is available.

The Addison Gallery is open, free to the public: Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Sundays 2:30 - 5 p.m.

Polo Tourney To Aid Fund

The Myopia Hunt Club in Hamilton is once again sponsoring a Polo Tournament for the benefit of the Northeast Chapter, Massachusetts Heart Association.

The Sixth Annual Joseph F. Poor Memorial Tournament will be held at the Myopia Hunt Club at 3 p.m. on Sunday, May 30.

The Hunt Club sponsors this event annually in memory of the late Joseph Poor of Wenham, since his death during a match 11 years ago on this same field.

Tickets will be available at the Heart Office located at 79 North Main St., or at the gate.

Abbot-PA Merger Shelved

The trustees of Phillips Academy have voted to suspend for the present further studies of a possible merger with Abbot Academy. Instead, they have ordered a study of a coordinate arrangement in which each school would retain its independence.

The action was taken two weeks ago at the spring meeting of the trustees and was made known today by John M. Kemper, Headmaster of Phillips. Phillips is a boys school, founded in 1778, and has an enrollment of more than 850. Abbot was founded as a girls school in 1828 and has an enrollment of about 290.

In a resolution, the Phillips trustees expressed their continued belief in the school's being involved in the education of women, and in collaboration with Abbot instead of independently. But, they held that "financial considerations make a merger with Abbot impractical at this time."

The trustees also voted to increase tuition by $350 to $3,050, effective in 1972, to help offset a deficit of around $305,000.

PA Drama Club Presentations

The Phillips Academy Drama Festival will present three plays this weekend on the stage of George Washington Hall and in the Drama Lab below.

"Everyman", an anonymous 16th century morality play, will begin at 7 p.m. in the Drama Lab, both Friday and Saturday nights.

On the main stage in George Washington Hall, two one-act plays, "The Great Rage of Phillip Hotz", by Max Frisch and "Guernica", by Fernando Arrabal, will be staged on the same nights, beginning at 8:15 p.m.

The public is welcome and admission is free.

The following Friday and Sunday nights an all-student production of Jean Paul Sartre's "Dirty Hands" will be presented.

A parent education meeting sponsored by the Christ Church Nursery School was held on Monday, May 17. Parents of this year's and next year's class attended.

In a brief introduction, Mrs. Norman Viehmann, teaching director, presented Mrs. William Andrews of North Andover. Mrs. Andrews illustrated with slides children learning activities. The many questions opened new facets of the topic concerning equip-elementary child's awareness of his own personality, with its strong and weak points, and his powers of decision making and self-discipline.

A large group of high school students was honored this past week for their volunteer work in working with 5th through 9th grade students to encourage them toward responsible decision-making on drugs, and alcohol. Mrs. Marion Davis, the homemaking teacher who sponsored their work, has moved into the health department to devote more time to this kind of work with students.

The Andover schools' health and family living curriculum has evolved under Health Coordinator Anita Charpentier beyond the sex-drugs, tobacco and alcohol format of so many school systems, to set such issues in the larger framework of "Human Relationships and Healthful Living."

The values of self-awareness, intrapersonal relationships and the tools of logical decision making are stressed, as well as information about physically and mentally healthful living. This curriculum grew out of the advice of a broadly based group of community leaders, and a teachers' writing workshop.

Latest evidence of this approach is the seven-week unit in decision-making which Mrs. Barbara Roulston piloted with her Doherty School fifth grade class. Health Coordinator Charpentier told the TOWNSMAN the unit will be extended to other classes and schools next year.

A comprehensive drug policy for the Andover schools prepared by administrators, students and parents will be unveiled at the next school committee meeting, May 25.

All communities and their schools have problems -- old ones and new ones, of which smoking, drugs and alcohol are just a few. The Andover community and its students have problems to face.

All schools do not have a cohesive philosophy to help its students meet the problems in the community. But a cohesive health curriculum package does seem to be evolving in the Andover school system: that the best way to arm students for facing the problems of today and tomorrow is to help them to know themselves, and give them the tools for making responsible decisions.

In a town that's 325 years into its future already, this is the schools' approach, in 1971, for students facing the future.

Winning Essay

The TOWNSMAN presents the winning essay in a contest winding up a seven-week unit on decision-making in Mrs. Barbara Roulston's fifth grade at Doherty School, entitled "My Decisions Today Are Important."

"I will have decisions to make all my life: taking drugs or not, watching TV or studying, playing baseball in the rain or getting in a hot tub inside, etc. With each wise decision, I make, decision making becomes easier and easier. I want to be a gym teacher and a good one at that, but I also want to be a fourth grade teacher. What a decision! If I choose the wrong thing, I'll have to live with it. I never make a decision by guesswork. I just choose what I think is right. I want to be a person everyone knows and likes. If I make good decisions, this may happen."

Eric Mofford and Mrs. Thomas Mofford, 11 Bartlet Street, will receive a pen engraved with his name and "Decisions Essay Contest 1971" for his winning essay. Kristen Carroll, Maren Powell, Audrey Saab and Martha Viehmann were close runners up in the contest, which was written entirely in class, and judged on logical thought and apt expression, by the superintendent of schools, the health coordinator and a TOWNSMAN reporter.

Housebreaks in Andover are on the increase. There have been more than thirty of them since the first of the year.

Some of the culprits have been apprehended, many have not.

There are a number of things residents can do to lessen these crimes against property.

For one thing, they can be more careful about security when they leave home.

For another, they can be more alert to suspicious persons or cars in their neighborhood.

Jotting down the registration number of a car which appears to be on the prowl will be a great aid to police in investigating a reported housebreak.

Persons should become involved when they see anyone acting suspiciously around their own home or that of a neighbor. A call to the police station will bring a quick response.

The great majority of the housebreaks which have occurred in Andover since the first of the year were carried out in broad daylight. Only four homes have been entered in the nighttime. Other night breaks have occurred in a business establishment and a school.

The shock of finding someone burglarizing your home can be severe, and very frightening.

One woman walked into her home from the backyard at mid-morning a couple of months ago and was confronted by two youths ransacking a bedroom. She ran screaming from the home. Fortunately, an observant neighbor took the registration number of a car racing from the scene and two arrests were made.

In the matter of security, many persons leave their homes unlocked when they go out for short periods. Women going to the market frequently don't bother to lock their doors in the daytime. They feel they will be gone for only a little while.

Those conspiring to make a housebreak are quick to notice empty garage stalls, especially in homes where more than one car is garaged.

The next step is to ring the doorbell, if there is no response, they go to work. If someone does answer the door, they suddenly become salesmen.

A great many of the breaks are made by those who are on drugs.

They steal articles that can be turned into quick cash to satisfy their habit. A drug hangover has no conscience.

Television sets, record players, tape cassettes, radios and similar articles are moved out in a hurry. Of course, cash provides a bonanza for the housebreaker.

The breaks occurring in Andover are not confined to any one locality. They take place all over the town. No homeowner should feel his premises are immune.

Police have been able to make some arrests, but not enough.

What they need, and need badly at this time is citizen cooperation.

Bountiful River

In a couple of years, Andover will be assured of an abundance of pure water. That's when the new treatment plant at Haggetts Pond will be in operation. Ground was broken last week and the physical plant is on its way.

The plant will purify water from the Merrimack river so that it will be suitable for human consumption.

The Merrimack has been providing water for a lot of people for a long time.

The Lawrence filtration plant is world renowned. The Merrimack not only supplies water for the city, but also for the town of Methuen. Now Andover joins the communities which will avail themselves of the river's bounty. North Andover will not be far behind in an era when water consumption is at an all time high.

Others are looking enviously at the Merrimack.

A study has been authorized to determine the environmental impact of diverting water from the river, in the vicinity of Lowell, into the water supply source of the Metropolitan Boston area.

The potential of diverting water from the Merrimack during high flow periods to the Boston metropolitan area is being evaluated as part of an overall study of water resources by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers at the direction of Congress.

A private engineering firm is already conducting field work which is due for completion in November when a report will be made to the Corps of Engineers.

There was a time when a lot of people wouldn't even think of washing their feet in water from the Merrimack river. But times - and demands - have changed.

Some years back, a noted editor wrote: "We should all say 'Thank God' for the Merrimack."

To which we add: Amen.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

I am very concerned about the safety of elementary school children who will now have to walk to school if they live less than a mile and a half away. Andover is a town with many roads devoid of sidewalks and curbstones. Walking is fine, if it is safe. Without sidewalks I feel it is not safe.

Concerned parents and citizens please visualize small children walking on hilly, narrow, snow covered roads with high plowed drifts on both sides coupled with poor visibility during the winter of the next school year. I believe we are inviting tragedy.

To my mind, a $10,000 saving and a child's safety do not equate. Can we get together and appropriate money in the Town Warrant which will come about for vote early in October to rectify what I feel to be an unsafe situation?

William P. Cook
8 Karlton Circle

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

As students of Andover High School we feel that we have a good school system. We do not feel that more discipline at our school is necessary to better our educational standards. Every student must learn to discipline himself in order to meet the standards he sees fit. He does not need the discipline of his faculty, administration, or even his fellow students. Any conservative or traditional trends made in our schools would stifle and stagnate the educational atmosphere that we value so highly. When we are faced with college, a job, or a family of our own, we will not have anyone to tell us how to behave in a mature responsible way. We can only learn this by being given the freedom and opportunities involved, and learning how to deal with them from our own experiences. Certainly this would be a valuable part of our education that we would use throughout our lives.

Anyone is welcomed to come visit our school and see for themselves that it is not a total madhouse filled with wild kids, in dire need of discipline; but that Andover High School is an excellent learning institution, with a majority of sincere students quite able to take care of themselves.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

During the May 9th Greater Lawrence Walk for Development, the West Parish Church in Andover allowed their facilities to be used as a rest stop for the walkers. As a member of the Walk Committee, I spent most of the day working at this checkpoint and was greatly impressed by all of the help that we got from these wonderful people.

We were allowed full use of the gymnasium, kitchen, rest rooms and telephone. Church members provided hot coffee and tea to supplement the food being distributed. They even remained cheerful at the prospect of cleaning the extensive litter left by 900 tired and hungry walkers. Afterwards, they provided me with transportation to the last checkpoint at Lawrence Common.

At West Parish we were treated as welcome guests instead of as the considerable inconvenience that I know we were. They made us feel that they were interested in what we were doing and pleased to be able to help. It is good to know that in this "I don't want to get involved" society, there are still people who really care.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Was pleased to note our School Committee was able to cut the School Dept. budget by $103,000. It was interesting to note that our Regional Vocational Technical High School budget amounts to $103,000 for Andover.

The cut in our School Dept. budget took care of that budget very nicely. Thanks to the voters.

Chairman King stated they would have to dip in somewhat to their educational programs to come up with the cut. The voters did not in any sense of the word hurt our School's educational programs by the cut.

The voters simply re-directed the spending of their money $103,000 in regards to the field of education in Andover.

Our Regional Vocational Technical High School is very essential to us in these days and times. This type of education is going to be very useful to many of our returning veterans and to others. I salute this fine School and all others like it elsewhere.

Grace B. Peters
77 Main Street

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Recent news releases have mentioned that the Andover School Committee has had the "intent of the Town Meeting" in mind when deciding by a 3 to 1 vote that school budget cuts should be made in the funds for busing of pupils.

In the summation of each of those at March Town Meeting whose adverse opinions were expressed, and specifically in my own, the statement was reiterated over and over that "The School Committee had the right and the obligation to decree where any cuts shall be made. Let's trust them."

Andover parents are being zapped for putting their trust in the School Committee and in a budget that is "not so sensitive that $20,000 or so can't be cut out of it somewhere," as per School Committee Chairman King's words to the local press.

Certainly, the pseudo-computer and the busing expenses were discussed, along with many other apparently fruitful areas for economy. All of the areas mentioned, however, were used as examples, given to illustrate to the town's voters that the overall spending levels proposed were questionable. Town Meeting did not cut buses - it cut dollars from an overexpanded, unprovable and underexposed budget whose only chance for success lay in voter apathy. When townspeople sat up and took notice, a long overdue trend of unquestioned acceptance was reversed.

Perhaps, the lack of understanding of the voter's intent was a result of the initial shock of adverse public opinion. The School Committee and the School Administration have apparently long since lost touch with public opinion and the reality of the current fiscal climate. Those who run our schools certainly must be taken to task for the monstrous inequity of putting school children off of buses while not making even a feeble motion to control school administrative costs.

Administrative travel expenses and official expense accounts which total many tens of thousands of dollars should certainly be eyed more carefully before the recent decision to change busing limits comes to fruition.

Although the School Committee doesn't seem to recognize it, (with one exception, Dr. Frank Griggs), the voters have decided that enough is enough. Perhaps the unwise decision on busing will be reconsidered before adverse public opinion rises even more steeply. I hope so!

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

It amazes me to hear words like these in print, "If the government won't stop the war, we will stop the government." That is one reason why I do protest these so called Peace Demonstrations. They create the atmosphere of unrest. St. Paul said, "In whatsoever state I'm in, I've learned to be content. Let contentment be your watchword and let it be your password, and let it be your helper to find peace." For if we haven't the true peace in our hearts, we become as clanging cymbals: -- President Nixon is a good American, he is a good President. He is bringing this war to an early end. In two years, he has cut the army numbers in Vietnam. If Americans all would cooperate instead of agitating, Hanoi would not be so anxious to war. But as long as he can hear Americans supporting the Viet Congs and Hanoi's interests, naturally, the war will go on because these Americans who demonstrate gives Hanoi the help it needs.

It is a safe assumption that the citizens of Andover favor an early peace. We do not need a big demonstration on Memorial Day to remind us of peace. I'm sure there are many many prayers for peace offered in the quiet of the Miss Mildred Moore will present the final concert in the current season at the Frick Art Museum in Pittsburgh, Pa., on Thursday, May 20, at 8:30 p.m.

The program will include works by Bach, Haydn, Chopin, Liszt and Schumann.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:
Selectman Sidney P. White opposed granting a permit to allow a Memorial Day peace service in Andover "on the ground that speakers would be opposing the objectives of the President of the United States." Does Sidney P. White consider the President of the United States our dictator and we his puppets? President Nixon is our leader and as such should be listening to all citizens of the United States -- even those who might oppose his objectives. Permission for the service was granted by the selectmen and it will be May 31.

a job as library assistant during summer vacations and on week-ends at the East Longmeadow Public Library. Her love of libraries continued and after graduation from college she was hired to set up a library in the Sinai Synagogue in Springfield, a job which required her to study every facet of library work.

Memorial Hall Library is fortunate to have a young person as dedicated and as enthusiastic about her work as Mary Jane Lynch. Her plans for the Children's Room are exciting and imaginative. "I want to make every spot in this room say hello," she explained, and Miss Lynch has many surprises up her sleeve to make this goal a reality. The story hour will continue, but will include more drama, more action, and more anticipation from the children.

Miss Lynch will continue to live at her Beacon Hill address until she finishes school. Outside the library she is fond of sewing and cooking. It is her hope that there will be time next year for her to pursue her main interests in college which were writing poetry and short stories to try out on her young friends from kindergarten on through elementary school.

. . . can make an important contribution to the traditional funeral service. Not only do they denote respect for the deceased, but flowers can be sort of a personal messenger of sympathy and understanding to survivors. Their presence tells the immediate family that their friends are thinking of them and sharing their sorrow during their bereavement.

While many customs and fashions have undergone changes over the years, the use of flowers at funerals has endured. Evidence of floral tributes have been found in excavated tombs dating as far back as ancient Egypt.

Main Street to Chestnut to Whittier Street and to Memorial Auditorium where the main observance will be held.

After the memorial service, the parade will regroup and proceed south on Bartlet Street to Wheeler Ave., north on Main Street to Elm Street and disband in the vicinity of Whittier Street and Washington Ave.

All floats in the parade will assemble in the Doherty School parking lot before 9 a.m.

Commander Benjamin Brown of the Legion, John C. Doherty of the VFW and Veterans Agent Elmer Ober will serve as chief marshals of the parade which will compare favorably in size to the great parade held during the 300th anniversary of the town 25 years ago.

Thousands of townspeople, residents of the area and visitors from out-of-town are scheduled to be on hand for the occasion.

Saturday's program will include a variety of sports events to be supervised by the Recreation department, events at the Historical Society and open houses in various parts of the town.

Church services will predominate the activities on Sunday, May 30, highlighted by a union service.

The public schools will play a very important part in the historical observance. Some of the school events, including plays, concerts and displays will extend from May 21 through May 31.

The elaborate historical production, "Generations," will be staged in the auditorium of the East Junior High School on Saturday and Sunday evenings, May 29 and 30 and will provide a look at Andover's history in play form.

The auditorium has been provided with extensive lighting and other stage units in preparation for the production which will be directed by Marjorie Edwards Carson.

William F. Jolliffe, scenic and lighting designer, accompanied by Irving J. Whitcomb, travelled to New Rochelle, N.Y., last Friday night to pick up a load of stage light equipment from the American State and Lighting Company.

"Generations" will be presented at 8 p.m. on each evening.

The sports program, Saturday, will include Kayak and Canoe races on the Shawshen river; a field day at the playstead; a baseball game between teams from Andover and North Andover on the playstead; a bicycle race and an Olympic running event.

Town Hall employees will turn back the clock during the business day on May 28 when they dress in historic costumes which will be rented and paid for by the anniversary committee.

Townpeople Show Appreciation

Over 150 people crowded the Log Cabin Thursday to thank 67 Andover High students and post-graduates who have, through Decisions Unlimited and Project Care, shown unusual concern and responsibility beyond themselves.

Symbols of appreciation were the silver telephone cover given to Project Care's Jim Bradford, who founded the telephone counseling service in Andover, a silver ring for co-leader Jackie Tatelman, an Abbot day student, and certificates of recognition which the students' principal, Philip Wormwood gave to the 67 students in Decisions Unlimited and Project Care, with his warm thanks.

The students turned the tables by giving their own symbols of appreciation -- a copper teakettle to their advisor, Mrs. Marion Davis, to start out her new Maine summer restaurant, and a gift to the schools' head nurse, Miss Wescott, for her help in driving Decisions Unlimited students to the various schools to talk to younger students.

The students also announced their plans for the two projects to continue, with new leadership from next year's senior class. Michael Tomaselli will head Project Care next year, and Gregory Ramos will lead Decisions Unlimited. Brad Guild will replace Kenneth Nilson on the Greater Lawrence Community Drug Council.

Occupational Directory Compiled

William J. Igoe, Director of Guidance of the Andover Public Schools announces that 157 townspeople have volunteered their talents to the students in the Andover Public Schools.

Mr. Igoe feels that there are many persons with a great deal of experience and training in a particular field who would be of great value in sharing their knowledge with the school population. The Occupational Directory was initiated by Isabelle Phelan and Robert Perry, Guidance Counselors at the Senior High School, along with students of the Junior and Senior classes.

The Guidance Steering Committee, made up of a group of interested parents representing each school building within the school system volunteered their services in obtaining the names of citizens interested in helping and sharing their experiences with school children of all levels.

Mr. Igoe has distributed the directory to all administrators and teachers in order that it may be used for: Class lectures, Small group discussions, Individual conferences and Field trips.

The Guidance Steering Committee is currently working on establishing a supplementary listing based on the talents of the teachers within the system with the expectation that teachers at the Secondary level may participate in Occupational Programs for the elementary level and visa versa.

Mr. Igoe feels that this is one attempt in trying to develop a career Awareness program for elementary levels through graduation. Any interested citizens who feel that they may be in a position to donate time and service in particular occupation or vocation are requested to contact the Guidance Office at the Senior High School.

Dr. O'Shea Will Be WPAA Guest

Dr. James O'Shea, Andover pediatrician and founder of Reality, Inc., the drug rehabilitation group, will be the guest on WPAA's "Andover Roundtable" this Thursday, at 9 p.m. The program will be repeated on Sunday evening at 7 p.m. Dr. O'Shea will be interviewed by the regular panelists of the Andover station, which is the student-run non-profit FM radio station at Phillips Academy, and Andover listeners can find it at 91.7 on their FM dial.

Color photographs by J. J. (Don) Snyder and black and white photographs by K. Kelly Wise are on view at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy through June 12.

K. Kelly Wise was educated at Purdue University and received a Master of Arts degree from Columbia University. Since 1966 he has been a faculty member at Phillips Academy where he has taught English and Filmmaking. Two years ago he began taking black and white portraits of his wife and three children, which led him to serious study of photography. He studied for a year with Stephen Perrin, the Wingate Paine Fellow at Phillips Academy from 1968-69. His avid interest in poetry, he feels, affects his images which are metaphysical in content, dealing with the ways his people touch and are touched by light and its deep silences.

Don Snyder studied photography with Walker Evans at Yale and did graduate study with Minor White at M.I.T. After two years as a professional, he started teaching photography at Phillips Academy in 1969, where he is currently an instructor in Art. His photographs have been exhibited at Harvard University, M.I.T. and the University of Maine.

Wise has also exhibited at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and does portrait photography in the Andover area.

The Addison Gallery of American Art has recently remodelled one of its wings in order to have an exhibit space devoted exclusively to photography and the Addison Gallery is open, free, Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sunday from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Garrett Players Performance

The play is titled "Beautiful Beulah Belle", a one-act comedy melodrama. Before the play, the children will be given a short demonstration of special stage effects, and some special musical numbers will be presented.

The cast includes Lucy Coco and Karol Kalil of Methuen; Pamela Umbro, Virginia Montella and Franklyn Farnham of Lawrence; Kathleen Hassey of North Andover; and Dique Jackson of Nashua, N.H. Specialty songs will be offered by Steven Hilbert and Peggy Gormley of Methuen, and Pauline Porter and Marie Rice of Andover. Pianist is Charles Wilder of Lynnfield. Musical Marathon Benefits Symphony

This is the weekend that radio listeners can ask the Boston Symphony Orchestra to play their favorite works, performed by their favorite conductors and soloists, and a number of Andover women will be manning the telephone to take their requests.

In a Musical Marathon, from Friday May 21 until May 24, at 1 a.m. listeners may call Radio Station WCRE to order any from a list of over 30 years of taped performances by the Boston Symphony Orchestra. All of these performances were taped live by the BSO and have not been released on records, but are made specially available for this marathon fundraising event for the famous symphony.

Requests for performances may be made on the basis of $1 per minute of music, starting at $10, by calling WCRE.

Andover women who are manning the WCRE telephones in support of the symphony's fundraising musical marathon are Mrs. Hart D. Leavitt, Mrs. Frederic S. O'Brien, Mrs. James A. Munroe, Mrs. James H. Grew, Mrs. Alexander Z. Warren, Mrs. G. C. Waterston and Mrs. Frederic P. Worthen.

Some, special full-length performances can be ordered only in their entirety. For example, for $200, a symphony lover can order the Brahms Piano Concerto in the middle of which soloist Serkin plays so vigorously he broke the foot pedals, and Conductor Charles Munch explains to the audience, "The piano, she is broke!"

A number of premiums will be mailed to symphony supporters who pledge amounts of $15 or more for requested music. These include souvenir programs, gift records, and on up the scale for larger donations.

A catalogue of the over 1000 taped performances may be obtained at the Memorial Hall Library or from Mrs. James Grew, Hidden Field.

Quota Honors Students

The seventh annual Recognition Reception and Dinner for Greater Lawrence Girls of Achievement sponsored by the Quota Club was held Monday night at the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical High School in West Andover. One hundred sixty-two girls, all members of the graduating class of nine high schools, public and parochial, in this area were the invited guests. These girls are all members of the National Honor Society in their respective school and were honored by Quota for this scholastic achievement.

Dinner was served under the direction of Mr. Coakley of the culinary arts department of the Voke School. Musical entertainment was provided by an accordion band of 30 children under the leadership of Miss Donna Michaels of Lowell.

Chairman of the Service to Girls committee that arranged the event was Dr. Nina E. Scarito and she acted as the mistress of ceremonies. The officers of the Club were in the receiving line to greet the guests as they arrived and the President, Miss Emily Heald gave the official welcome and explained the history and purposes of Quota to the audience.

Rare Warbler Identified By Birders

A prothonotary warbler has been identified in Andover for the first time since 1905.

This warbler, a southern swamp inhabitant seldom seen north of New Jersey, was spotted on Friday, May 7 by Mrs. Victor Duxbury, Mrs. Thomas Cone and Dan Fitts in the Woburn Street marsh.

Al Retelle sighted the rare bird on Tuesday, May 11, confirming the bird's presence in Andover. Mrs. Duxbury conjectures that the bird must have been thrown northward off its migratory course by heavy rains and storms.

The prothonotary warbler gained some national prominence a good 20 years ago, during the communist conspiracy trial of Alger Hiss. Confessed communist Whittaker Chambers convinced the jury that he was an intimate of Hiss when he told them details about Hiss's personal life. The most convincing of these was Chambers' knowledge of Hiss's excitement over spotting a prothonotary warbler on a bird-walk. When the prosecution got Hiss to inadvertently verify Chambers' testimony Hiss's goose was cooked by the warbler

Water Rates Remain Under Study

The board of selectmen who a week ago Monday heard protests over the new water rates from several citizens, still have the matter under study. The board voted early in the year to approve a revised rate by a 3-2 majority. Under the revised rates, the small, or household consumers, who make up 94.5 percent of the customers and who use 54.7 percent of the water will pay 63.75 percent of the cost. They are now paying 61.6 percent of the cost.

The moderate, or commercial users, accounting for 5.4 percent of the customers, use 33.7 percent of the water and pay 29.1 percent of the cost will be paying 27.85 percent if the new rates stand.

The industrial consumers, who make up 0.1 percent of the customers and use 11.6 percent of the water, are now paying 9.3 percent of the cost. This percentage will drop to 8.4 under the new rates.

Town officials point out that percentagewise, the change in rates is comparatively small.

Opponents of the new rates contend that commercial industrial users should pay a greater share of the new rates.

Singing Groups Perform June 4

A rare opportunity will be offered on Friday evening, June 4 at 8 p.m. in the East Junior High School auditorium when Andover's own Townsman Chorus, the local chapter of S.P.E.B.S.Q.-S.A., Inc. presents its "Evening of Harmony", featuring the chorus under the direction of Carl D'Angio of Reading, as well as several Barbershop quartets.

The old-time, folk and modern songs will be presented by such accomplished groups as our local "Pier 4" quartet, a comedy outfit called the "Haystack Four," and the featured stars of the evening called the "Foston Common."

In short, you can do nothing but have fun. Those wishing to hear our silver-throated meadowlarks in full voice may purchase tickets at the door or from one of the chorus members.
